ABSTRACT

Bibliographic data, physical characteristics, contents, prices, and ordering instructions for Spanish instructional materials listed in this issue of the Materials Acquisition Project are provided for each entry. Subject categories include general works, social science, language arts, pure science, technology, the arts, literature, and history. Materials are classified according to the Dewey decimal system by subject matter, with related subject areas utilized. The annotation is an objective description of materials and often includes suggestions concerning appropriate grade-level and utilization of materials. The bibliographic materials are generally adapted for use by bilingual teachers. Many familiar works included in the compilation have been translated from foreign languages into Spanish. For the companion documents, see FL 002 968-FL 002 972 and FL 002 974-FL 002 977. (RL)

NEW ADDRESS FOR SEPTEMBER

In order to accommodate the growing collection of educational materials and to institute new organizational procedures that should insure a speedier processing of acquisitions, the Materials Acquisition Project will be moving to new premises during August. By September the address for the project will be 2950 National Avenue, San Diego, California 92113.

MAILING SCHEDULE

The number of persons who receive the MAP publication has increased steadily. Recently it has become necessary to switch from third class to bulk rate mailing. The establishment of procedures for bulk rate mailing has temporarily delayed th June issue. The July and August issues will possibly be delayed because MAP will be moving to its new offices. MAP expects to be back on its mailing schedule by September.

REASSESSMENT OF BILINGUAL PROGRAMS

MAP will resume its acquisitions effort abroad for the coming academic year during the latter part of August. At or about departure time all Spanish and Portuguese bilingual projects will be reassessed to determine changes of status and/or emphases in programs. Derived data will serve to refine the selection of materials to be utilized in present bilingual programs.
